

The Cat bit the Mouse's tail off.

"Please, Mr. Cat," said the Mouse. "Give me back my tail."

But, the Cat said, "No!

I will not give back your tail until you go to the Cow and get me some milk to drink."

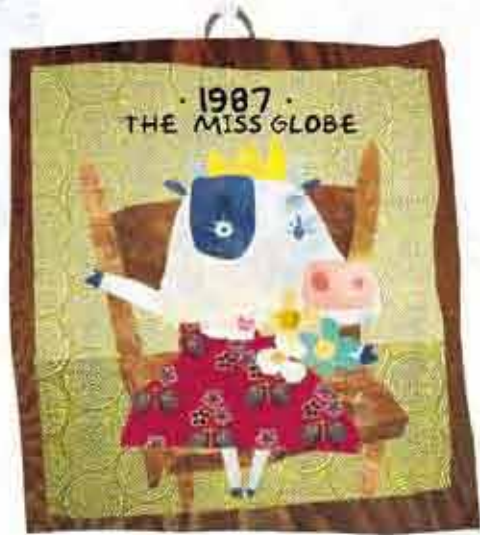

Mouse jumped and she ran and soon she began to go and see the Cow.

"Please, Miss Cow, Will you give me some milk?"

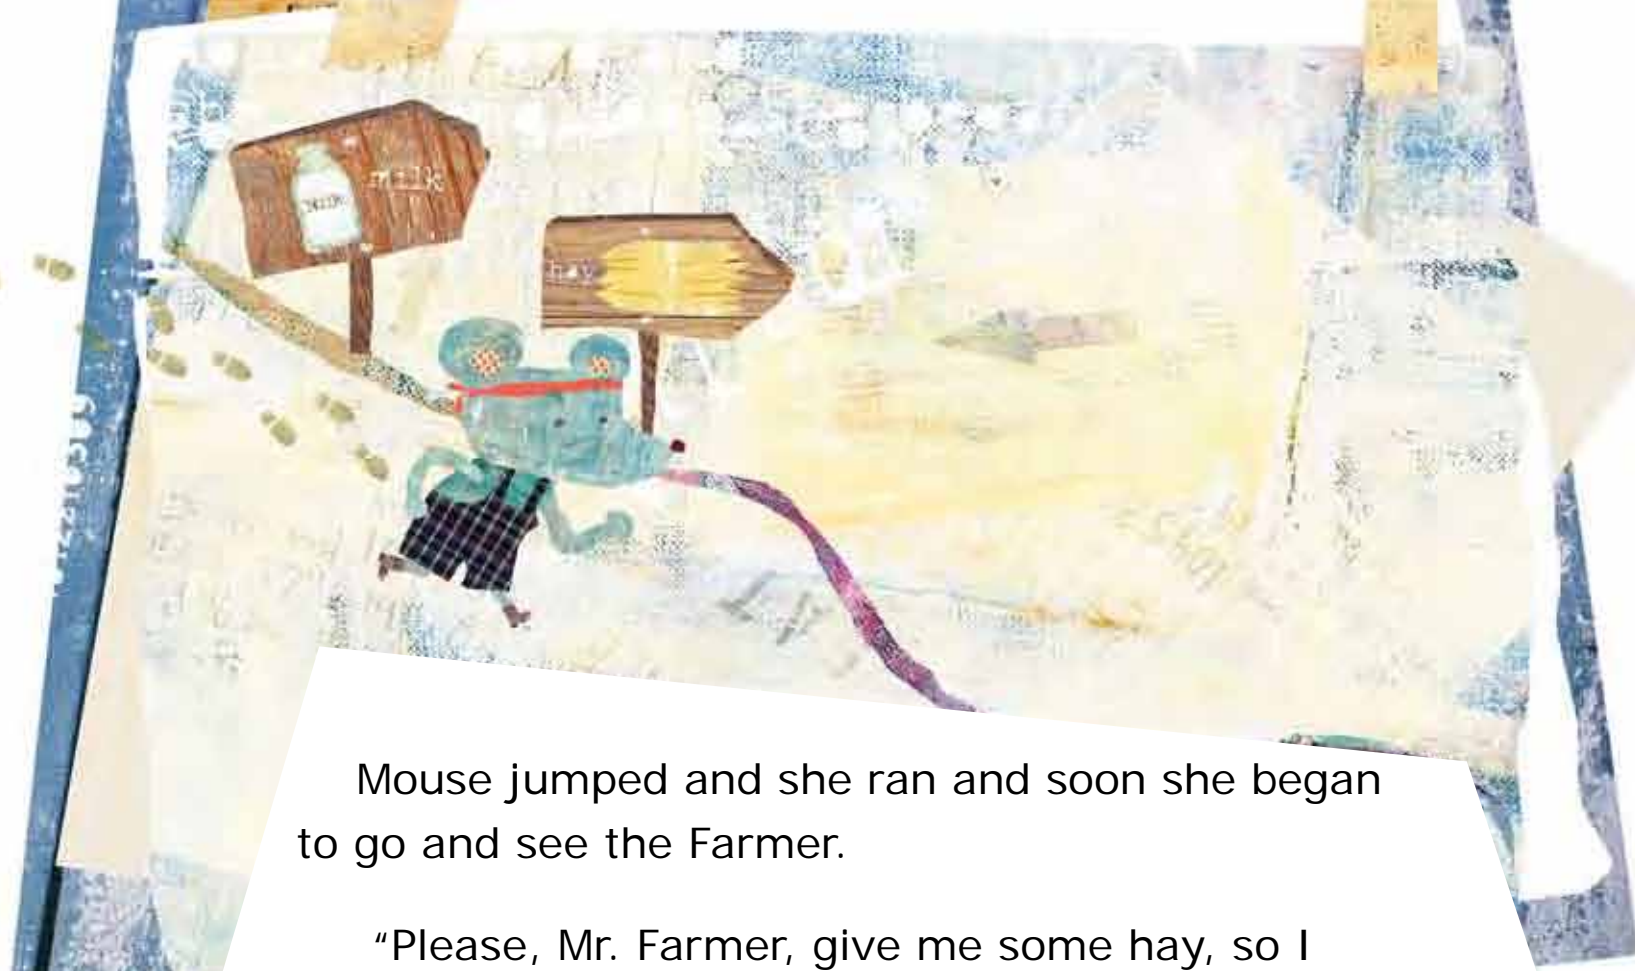

"I will give the milk to the Cat so I can get my tail back?"

But, the Cow said, "No!
I will not give you any milk until you go to the Farmer and get me some hay."

A collage illustration of a mouse in a field. The mouse is blue with a red collar and a long purple tail, wearing a black and white plaid skirt. It is running towards the right. In the background, there are two wooden signs on posts. The left sign says 'Milk' and the right sign says 'Hay'. The field is yellow and green, with a blue sky and a sun in the top right corner. The entire scene is made of various paper scraps and textures.

Mouse jumped and she ran and soon she began to go and see the Farmer.

“Please, Mr. Farmer, give me some hay, so I can give it to the Cow.

Then the Cow will give me milk that I can give to the Cat.

Then the Cat will give me back my tail.”
